SEVEN OAKS EDUCATION FOUNDATION CELEBRATES GRADUATES AND FUTURE TEACHERS!

Seven Oaks honours high school and education program graduates with Grad Powwow, video message.

Seven Oaks School Division (SOSD) just put on its 12th Grad Powwow – virtually this year due to COVID. Over the years the event has grown leaps and bounds becoming a beautiful community event packed with people.

"It brings culture, families and academics together," Sherry Denysuik, Director at Adult Education Centre and Indigenous Inclusion, says.

Along with honouring graduates, the powwow also celebrates powwow clubs, jigging clubs, drumming groups, and fiddling groups happening in early and middle years schools. Staff from many clubs and school levels volunteer to help, with numbers growing each year.

"As an Indigenous person it makes you feel proud to see your culture celebrated, and it makes me feel proud to be part of Seven Oaks... it's reconciliation in action when we do this work," Denysuik, who is Anishinaabe from Sagkeeng First Nation, says.

The powwow also honours graduates of the Community-Based Aboriginal Teacher Education Program (CATEP) – a joint program with the University of Winnipeg where students work as EAs, graduate with a Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Education and get hired into SOSD to increase the number of Indigenous educators.

"I am in awe of the students as they work full time, take courses at night and in the summer – and many of them are raising families," Denysuik says. Honouring these graduates makes the powwow more meaningful because they already work in the division and will soon be teaching in the division.

On top of the Grad Powwow, SOSD celebrated high school grads with a congratulations video message! The video to celebrate grad's accomplishments featured elders, dancers, students talking about their positive experiences in school and the role of their teachers.

"Because it was a video, we were able to interview grads and find out what they intended to do – every single grad had a plan," Denysuik says.

The video also featured a jigging performance by Mikey Harris and his siblings, students talking about their heritage and culture and scholarship award winners were announced.

A solemn moment in the video acknowledged the discovery of the 215 children buried on the site of a former residential school in Kamloops and the SOSD offered a statement of support.

Denysuik emphasizes how proud she is of SOSD students and staff for making the school year and these celebrations happen.

"They found ways to organize even through the pandemic – using smaller groups, listening to recordings so they could learn and despite going remote again, were able to put it together," she says.

Seven Oaks Education Foundation is an organization dedicated to providing the students of Seven Oaks School Division access to post-secondary education.

The Foundation raises funds to help students realize their postsecondary goals through scholarship opportunities and distributes these funds to facilitate learning for as many students as possible. Home Routes/Chemin Chez Nous is a Winnipeg based non-profit organization initiated by Mitch Podolak and Ava Kobrinsky. Over the past two years, SOEF and Home Routes have partnered to fulfill both of our mandates. While patrons experience top level musicianship, we are creating opportunities for Seven Oaks School Division graduates to continue their academic paths.
